Testimonials from practitioners who use
TIGER BALM® Pain Relieving Ointment

“For detailed work on the shoulders and neck.”

How used: “For detailed work on the shoulders and neck. An open tin placed on an arm rest while client is prone, this helps keep sinuses open.”

How it works: “The production of deep heat helps increase circulation in the applied areas as well as making the muscles more pliable to manipulation.”

Additional pointer: “It can be used as an additive to lotions and creams to provide light general warmth.”

Practitioner: Richard Logan, LMT
Tiger Balm user for 20 years

“... to help in pain relief, spot work on trigger points and loosen tight muscles.”

How used: “As an outpatient physical therapy clinic that treats a high percentage of older clients with neck, shoulder, and low back pain issues we use Tiger Balm to help in pain relief, spot work on trigger points and loosen tight muscles.”

How it works: “I fully endorse the use of Tiger Balm to help in pain management. I explain that it brings blood to the affected area and acts as an analgesic.”

Practitioner: Ed Gray, OTR/L-PTA
Tiger Balm user for 4 years

“It works on tension, joint pain, muscle spasms, head aches, back aches, blocked up sinuses.”

How used: “I use Tiger Balm on 9 out of 10 clients. I apply it to their neck and shoulders during the first part of the massage. I also will use at the base of the skull into the hairline for tension headaches.”

How it works: “I do 6 deep tissue massage therapies a day. Tiger Balm makes my job easier. The patients benefit from the use of Tiger Balm after they leave. Some patients with chronic conditions apply Tiger Balm at home. I also get a treatment on my hands every time I apply it to a patient. I do not go any where without Tiger Balm. It works on tension, joint pain, muscle spasms, head aches, back aches, blocked up sinuses. Great stuff.”

Practitioner: Tina Schollaert, LMT, NMT
Tiger Balm user for 15 years

What everyday folks are saying...

“I had to write this letter to let you know how much I love your product ‘Tiger Balm.’ It is the best pain relieving ointment I have ever used, and I have tried almost everyone of the other products on the market. I have gotten all of my co-workers, family and friends using Tiger Balm also. We work in a factory so we have a lot of aches and pains. Also we have used it for sinus problems and headaches. We all swear by this product. I just wanted to congratulate your company for such an amazing product. Please don’t ever quit making Tiger Balm.”

Your Customer + #1 spokesperson forever,
Debbie G., Louisville, Kentucky

“I am writing to commend you on your tremendous product, Tiger Balm. I often use it before I run, and it really helps to keep my legs loose. When my calves start to cramp up, a jar of Tiger Balm is worth its weight in gold.”

Jeannette M., Kane, Pennsylvania

“I have fibromyalgia and am in constant pain on a daily, hourly, minute-by-minute basis. I have utilized other analgesic creams and lotions, but never with such a consistent and long-lasting effect!!! Tiger Balm — so aptly named ... it’s a Tiger for ‘balmin.”

Linda B.

“This product could not have arrived at a better time! I recently fractured my scapula and had been suffering with a lot of acheing sensation in my shoulder. Tiger Balm quickly got pleasant cooling and then warming sensation over the area and it relieved that deep ache.”
